Drinking water, landfill clash

By Andy Siering
and John Milazzo
Staff writers

EDWARDSVILLE — A report from the Illinois State Geological Survey regarding suitability of a proposed new landfill site says the site offers "a relatively low level of protection" to subterranean reservoirs that supply drinking water.

And, in the case of the proposed landfill site near Horseshoe Lake, the reservoir under the site either is or may be the supply point for wells supplying Collinsville and Troy, according to testimony in the second day of a county landfill site hearing in Edwardsville.

The hearing was recessed Thursday until Monday at 9 a.m.

The geological survey report was provided by Beverly Herzog, hydrologist and acting head of the Champaign-based organization's Groundwater Resources Section.

The document was requested by George Moran of Glen Carbon, a retired Illinois appellate judge and spokesman for the Madison County Conservation Alliance, an organization opposed to the proposed landfill.

Moran said during the hearing process that the proposed 210-acre site for a landfill and reclamation facility, planned by Environmental Control Systems Inc. of Springfield, is inappropriate because it is located in federally protected wetlands situated in the American Bottoms.

In questioning of Doug Andrews, president of Environmental Control Systems, Moran said a

"... throughout the site, sand was encountered no deeper than 16 feet. These sands were wet and are capable of transmitting fluid at a relatively rapid rate. ... (The) picture of relatively low natural protection to groundwater resources appears to be borne out."

— Illinois State Geological Survey

summary of new Illinois Pollution Control Board landfill regulations stipulates that "you cannot place (waste management) structures to invade wetlands."

Andrews said he would not agree with Moran's finding that "every foot of ground out there is wetlands," and said that a liner system he has designed for the site is intended to assure safeguards for the groundwater supplies.

During earlier questioning, Andrews said "wetlands," in the context of a planned 62-acre tract for a compacted-trash bale storage area for the facility, is a matter for interpretation by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

In the report, Herzog pointed out the Illinois State Geological Survey is "not a regulatory agency and we have no jurisdiction over whether a site is permitted."

Rather, she said, the agency comments "on the relative potential for contamination of shallow aquifers of a proposed site, based solely on the site's geology."

Aquifers are subterranean reservoirs that supply drinking water.

Opponents of the proposed site have expressed concern that contaminated water from the "trash bales might leach into the soil in the event of a failure of the proposed protective liner. And, because of the sandy nature of the soil, opponents say those contaminants could easily find their way into the groundwater supplies."

Results of soil borings at the site obtained by the applicant and provided to the geological survey show that "throughout the site, sand was

extends routes

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — An expansion of the Madison County Transit District's 25-cent fixed-route service throughout the county will start with the Quad City area in December, the district's board chairman, Nelson Hagnauer, announced Thursday.

"It's always been rewarding to be part of the Transit District," Hagnauer said, "but it's especially gratifying to see the realization of the county being linked through the expansion of local fixed-route service."

"It's a dream come true, not only for me, but for those people who never had access to public transportation."

"Our smaller, fully accessible shuttles are able to reach more neighborhoods than the larger Bi-State buses. Our elderly and disabled citizens are better served."

A 25-mile route will link Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with Mitchell, Granite City, Madison and Venice. This route will also connect eventually with the East St. Louis Metro-Link rail station.

A 9.8-mile one-way route will connect the Melvin Price Support Center with the Nameoki Village Shopping Center. This route also will restore service, discontinued in 1985, along St. Clair Avenue, Maryville Road and Johnson Road.

A four-mile one-way route linking Eagle Park and East Madison with downtown Granite City restores service to some Madison residents who were served by a Bi-State route discontinued in 1989.

SEMC's new building proceeding as hoped

GRANITE CITY — The plans for St. Elizabeth Medical Center's new Medical Office Building, to be built immediately adjacent to the Tri-Cor Building on Madison Avenue and 21st Street, are proceeding as expected, according to SEMC Vice President Jack Grieves.

"In June, the medical center began work to obtain a Certificate of Need from the Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board to allow the project to proceed," Grieves said. "Final approval was received on Aug. 10."

"In July, test borings of the soil were taken," Grieves said. "We needed the information from the borings to determine the proper design of the supporting structure. Also, we obtained the necessary variances from the city to allow for the project to proceed."

Currently, the medical center is seeking an ordinance from Granite City to allow the construction of an overhead walkway between the new medical office building and the main hospital complex.

"About 60 percent of the rentable space has already been committed," Grieves said.

"We are still meeting with the physicians who will have offices in the new building to determine things like outlet locations, for electricity, and placement for telephone and computer connections. The architects advise us the design phase should be completed by the end of October."

If this estimate is right, the bid for construction should be awarded in early December, according to Grieves. "The construction should start shortly after that, weather permitting."

We expect construction to take at least a year."

The new building will be three stories high, in brick, similar in color to the Kottler Center and the ancillary areas of SEMC. There will be 12,500 square feet per floor, plus a basement.

The brick facade on the new building will be extended around the Tri-Cor Building, so that the two buildings appear to be one. Each floor in the new building will contain three to six units, depending on their size.

GRANITE CITY'S newest police officer, Jenna Roderick, irons the shirt of her new police uniform. She will be sworn in on Monday.

Chief won't make fuss for first woman officer

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Jenna Roderick will become the city's first female police officer on Monday, but Chief Don Knight insists it will be no big deal.

"Oh, I know what the fuss is about," Knight said. "It's making history. It's not like it's the first time in the United States, but it's history."

Knight said women belong in police departments "as cops."

Like any time an officer is hired, Knight said he is just glad to be getting another qualified person. "What else can I say?"

Roderick, who served four months as an intern at the department earlier this year, said she knows and has worked with the other police officers. And she can't wait to get started.

"Ever since I was a little girl, being a police officer is all I can remember wanting to be," she said.

Roderick, who will turn 21 on Oct. 24, is a 1987 graduate of Granite City High School. She graduated this spring from Belleville Area College, having earned an associate of science degree in administration of criminal justice.

She is scheduled to attend the Police

American Steel to hire 200 for new shift
Boom attributed to 'attitude'

GRANITE CITY — American Steel Foundries will hire 200 more production workers here in order to staff a second shift at the foundry.

William P. Donovan, Granite City Works manager, said the 200 new production workers will be phased in over a three-month period.

The first 100 employees will begin work Oct. 15. An additional 100 employees will be brought on board between late October and mid-December.

Donovan said many of the employees will come from the company's recall list, but others will be new employees.

American Steel resumed production in Granite City in June 1989 after the foundry had been moth-balled for more than six years. Since reopening, the Granite City foundry has been operating one shift with 250 employees.

The need for increased production at the Granite City plant is the result of increases in the railroad car market, Donovan said. American Steel manufactures cast-steel railroad freight car side frames and bolsters at the Granite City foundry.

The Granite City area economy is booming at a time it seems like the St. Louis economy is deteriorating," Ortbals said.

Library hosting storytime

GRANITE CITY — The children's department of the Granite City Public Library will conduct storytime on Wednesday mornings beginning Oct. 3.

The storytimes will be held at 10:30 a.m. in the Main Library, 2001 Delmar Ave. Each session will last about 30 minutes. Children must be at least 3 years old to attend.

Blood-lead testing offered

GRANITE CITY — A screening for blood lead will be held from 10 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Oct. 5 at the Lincoln Place Community Center on Niedringhaus Avenue.

The test, administered by the Family Service and Visiting Nurse Association, will be a simple finger-prick test and the results will be available immediately. The cost will be $2. Medicaid cards will be accepted and arrangements can be made for those who cannot afford the test.

The screening is open to all area residents.

According to Kathy Andria of the Maple Street Block Association, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has said blood lead testing is most accurate when taken after summer exposure to the soil.

Andria said that, since the Illinois Department of Public Health will not begin its blood-lead screening here until next spring, it is important to get a reading now.

Andria especially encouraged the residents who participated in the screening this spring to come back and get retested so the levels can be compared.

Tony R. Butler, 42, of the 2000 block of Edwardsville Road was served with a probation revocation warrant Sept. 24 after he was involved in a single-car accident Sept. 22 in a stolen car.

The car had been reported stolen from St. Louis.

Butler left the scene on foot and was arrested minutes later behind Central Hardware in the Crossroads Plaza shopping center, it was contended.

Police said he had in his pocket a tool that can be used to twist off car ignitions, and part of the tool was still attached to the ignition from the stolen car.

Police believed Butler was intoxicated and asked him to submit to a blood alcohol test, but he declined.

Butler, who had been released from prison just the day before, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, leaving the scene of an accident and driving while his license was revoked. He was also issued traffic citations for failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident and for improper lane usage.

Reasons college students stay at home and commute back and forth to classes are as varied as the students themselves. Pendleton's killer waits for death

By John Milazzo
Staff writer

(First of two articles)
CHESTER — Lloyd Wayne Hampton, convicted in the brutal slaying of a 69-year-old Rock park caretaker, has taken up residence in the Death Row cell that, until his Sept. 12 execution, was occupied by Charles Walker, Hampton's victim, Roy E. "Jasper" Pendleton, resided in Granite City most of his life.

Walker, 50, convicted of killing two Mascoutah residents seven years ago, was the first prisoner to face the ultimate penalty in the state in 20 years.

Hampton, who prefers to be addressed as Wayne or Hamp, said that the new cell in a "quiet area" of the Menard Correctional Center is a vast improvement over his former cell on the "row."

In his former cell area, where most of the other prisoners facing the death penalty are housed, Hampton said the senses are assaulted by a perpetual din.

The roar comes from shouting, competing television broadcasts at maximum volume, and "ghetto blasters" playing rap tapes.

"None of those guys out there use earplugs. They don't have any consideration," Hampton said.

Hampton, who will turn 37 on Nov. 13, confessed to the February killing of Pendleton and refused to participate in his own defense, saying he wanted to be executed.

The Texas drifter, who says he has supported himself between stretches in prison playing "hillbilly music" in roadhouses and honkytonks, whimsically refers to the cell as "my house or condo."

"When you've done as much time as I have in the joint, you get to regard your cell as your home," said Hampton, who was born in the Texas Panhandle and grew up in a succession of dusty north-Texas towns strung along Interstate 35.

"I've spent 13 calendar years of my life in prison, mainly in the Texas (penal) system," said Hampton, who can rapidly wheel through a succession of dates marking arrests, paroles, releases and rearrests for parole violations.

Hampton said his needs are few and that he is content to wait out the state's mandatory appeals process standing between him and a lethal injection.

"I've got a little TV and a tape player and my typewriter. I'm doing all right," he said.

A Newsweek magazine quote, attributed to him at his July sentencing hearing after receiving the death penalty, seemingly sums up his outlook on life — and death.

"It's the first time in my life I ever got what I wanted."

Hampton looks and sounds contented for a man who finds himself in a bad situation.

But, one of the few things that riles Hampton who confesses to having a "hot temper" — is the suggestion that he has a death wish.

"The press has brought that up and I've heard it here, too. I don't have a death wish — there is no death wish. I'm not a suicidal person; suicide takes a weak individual.

"What they don't realize is, under the best of circumstances, I'd have been looking at 50 calendar years. You might as well say life."

"I just have no intention of spending my life in prison. This has nothing to do with any silly death wish."

His expressed desire to allow his sentence to take its course has also made him the target of barbs and jokes leveled by other Death Row inmates — those who are fighting their sentences.

Hampton says that shortly before Walker's execution, a prison officer assessed Hampton as being "a loner and on the quiet side."

That led to his being assigned to the Walker cell in the quiet area, he said.

"Now these guys walk by and say, 'If he wants to die, he's got the right cell for it,'" Hampton said, referring to Walker's professed preference for the death penalty.

"That's all right; let them joke. I know what I'm doing," Hampton said.

As an exercise in sealing his fate while waiting to be sentenced, Hampton clipped out a newspaper account of a Missouri death row inmate who killed a prison guard.

"I sent it along to Judge (Andreas) Mateosian with a letter to let him know I would kill again if he didn't give me death. It wasn't any idle threat."

Yard sale to help boy, 17, get heart

GRANITE CITY — Mary Hearn has a lot of heart because she wants to help her nephew get a heart transplant.

Hearn, who lives with her husband, Calvin, at 2149 Miracle Ave., is holding a yard sale Oct. 5 to help raise part of the $30,000 needed to help Scott Trippie receive a new heart.

Trippie, a 17-year-old high school student who lives in Inola, Miss., has a hereditary condition that has caused his heart to become enlarged.

Hearn said the yard sale, which will be held from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., will feature a lot of children's toys and clothes, plus adult clothes and lamps — "anything that we can come up with," she said.

A trust fund has been set up for Scott at the Guarantee Bank and Trust Co. in Belzoni, Miss.

can be directed to the Old Newsboys Day Hot Line, (314) 821-0211.

Each volunteer will receive a kit containing information on a bright orange Old Newsboys Day apron supplied by Hardee's Restaurants, a yellow badge provided by Southwestern Bell Telephone, and a coupon for hot coffee and a biscuit, redeemable at Hardee's.

On a typical Old Newsboys Day, 8,000 volunteers blanket 1,400 street corners in the bi-state area to raise over $200,000 for more than 200 children's organizations.

Colleges low-cost, close to home

By Lois Kendall
Staff writer

St. Louis Community College is an attractive, common-sense choice for an ever-increasing number of students.

About 32,000 students are enrolled at the three St. Louis campuses, with 7,000 at Forest Park (an 8.5 percent increase over last fall), 14,700 at Meramec (a 2 percent increase) and 10,436 at Florissant Valley (enrollment stable).

Henry Shannon, dean of student development services at Forest Park, says low cost is one big reason.

While some private universities command tuition fees of $10,000 to $14,000 per year, the community college maintains an affordable rate of $29 per credit hour.

"Also, many traditional students can't afford housing in a dormitory situation," Shannon says.

"Years ago, I got a scholarship to go away to school, but I couldn't afford the room and board."

The cost of room and board at some residential colleges is often nearly as high as the tuition fee itself.

Community college students can commute to the campus closest to their homes, saving thousands of dollars in living expenses.

Sometimes, the commitment itself is a factor — 18-year-olds fresh out of high school don't always know what career path they should follow, Shannon says.

"The first year or two, they need a chance to see what they want to do," he says. "It's better for them to spend less money while making quality decisions about their futures."

Students can take courses at the community college that will meet their general education requirements while they make up their minds, he says. It also gives them the opportunity to assess their own interests and aptitudes and to better select a four-year institution that will meet their needs.

The majority of community college students transfer to one of the Missouri state colleges, says John Cosgrove, director of institutional research and planning for the community colleges.

"Metropolitan, local or regional institutions tend to receive the most students — UM-St. Louis, Rolla, Southeast Missouri State," Cosgrove says.

One of the reasons, he adds, is that the community colleges work closely with state universities to insure that all credits can be transferred.

There is nothing more frustrating for a student than finding out that several courses don't transfer," Cosgrove says. "We try to assure that this doesn't happen."

Economics often enter into that decision too, he says. "If a student chooses a community college for its low cost, in all likelihood that economic factor is still there. A student transferring to UM-St. Louis can stay home, keep his job and not incur moving expenses."

But not all students enter the community college system with the idea of transferring after a year or two.

Nearly 50 percent opt to enroll in the schools' two-year career programs, where the job placement rate for graduates is a whopping 90 percent, Cosgrove says.

For older students — and one-third of the student body at the community colleges is 30 years or older, with the average age being 27 — the convenience of close-to-home classes, evening scheduling and satellite campuses is an important factor, Shannon says.

Students can continue to work at their present jobs while accruing the credit hours or program certification they need to pursue new careers.

"Many of these people didn't go to college right out of high school, and now they're getting a second chance," Shannon says.

Many are unemployed or underemployed and need retraining. Often, their employers send them back to school."

One drawback of a commuter school, Shannon says, is the lack of socialization that residential campuses provide.

"Still, students do have the opportunity to meet friends and develop personal skills," he says.

"We try to stress extracurricular activities, like student government, intramural sports and intercollegiate activities."

2nd chance at smaller school

By Jim Haverstick
Staff writer

For Kathy Bottjer, 21, of O'Fallon, attending Belleville Area College was a chance to start over.

When Kathy graduated from O'Fallon High School in 1987, she couldn't wait to go away to college. But her stay at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was short-lived.

"I had just a little too much fun at Carbondale and I had to come home. I had no choice."

BAC offered her a fresh start. She could put the mistakes behind her and begin her education again.

Kathy plans to earn her associate's degree in arts and then transfer to SIUE.

She did not go directly to SIUE because she needed to be reacquainted to college life, she said.

A college offers many of the things Kathy needs in her life right now. For one, it is an easy commute for her, only a few miles from O'Fallon.

Tuition at BAC is cheaper than at a four-year university. "My parents aren't paying for this round. It is all coming out of my own pocket," she said.

Living with her parents and making only a short commute to school allows Kathy to hold a part-time job at St. Clair Square, she said.

Also, "I have a slower pace at BAC. At a big university there are so many responsibilities and maybe I just wasn't ready for all that."

Kathy said some aspects of BAC force her to be more responsible. With the small classes at BAC, teachers know and recognize the students and take attendance. It almost forces her to show up for class, she said.

At Carbondale she felt lost among hundreds of other students in a huge lecture hall.

Smaller classes help to provide a closer, almost one-on-one relationship with a teacher, she said.

At this point Kathy does not know if she will continue to live with her family when she attends SIUE or if she will move out on her own. For now, she values the financial and emotional stability of living at home.

College Fair on Oct. 7

More than 200 colleges and universities will be represented at the National Association of College Admission Counselors' college fair from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 7, at the St. Louis

Community College at Forest Park, 5600 Oakland Ave.

No advance registration or notification is required to attend. The fair is expected to have about 4,000 participants.

Shrine to dedicate building

BELLEVEILLE — The dedication of the Radio Information Service's new building at the Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows will be held at 3 p.m. today (Sunday). The Rev. Allen Maes, a missionary oblate of Mary Immaculate, will preside at the ceremony.

The Radio Information Service is:

• A closed-circuit radio reading service exclusively for the blind and those with print disabilities in the greater St. Louis metropolitan area.

• A gathering point for 200 volunteers broadcasting more than 100 hours weekly, which includes newspapers, books, magazines, periodicals and a listener participation program called "Talk-back."

• A sponsor of a low-vision group that meets regularly.

• A service that is used by 12,000 persons in the area. Refreshments will be served this afternoon.

Those who wish more information may call 397-6700 (TTY).

Grief workshop offered here

GRANITE CITY — Hospice of Madison County, a department of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, is offering its "grief" workshop on three consecutive Wednesday evenings, from 7 to 9, on Oct. 3, 10 and 17.

The workshop is open to anyone who has lost a loved one during the past year.

There is no charge to attend the sessions, but pre-registration is required. The workshop will be held in the Hospice Conference Room on the fifth floor of the SEMC Doctors Building.

To pre-register, or for more information, Hospice can be called at 798-3399 or 656-8222.

Las Vegas weekend planned by Park District

The Granite City Park District is planning a "weekend in Las Vegas" the first weekend in December, the first journey of its kind.

This will be a package trip which includes round-trip airfare, transfers to and from the airport in Las Vegas and three nights lodging in the towers of the Imperial Palace (with baggage handling), plus round-trip bus fare to and from Wilson Park to Lambert Airport.

Participants must be 21 years or older. While in Las Vegas, everyone will be on their own. No special meals, side trips or special events will be planned for the group while there.

The flight from St. Louis is a direct flight on TWA and the plane leaves St. Louis at 7:30 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 6, returning on Sunday, Dec. 9, at 3 p.m.

No rooms in Las Vegas will allow more than three people to stay in one room, so the district will only take reservations for doubles or triples. The price will be $300.95 per person, including all the above amenities.

Reservations will be taken on Tuesday, Oct. 2, at the Wilson Park office. Full payment must be made at the time of registration; each person will sign a contract with Trademark Vacations, tour operator for the group. For more information, the park office can be called at 877-3059.

Air/hotel accommodations are being arranged by Holiday Service and Trademark Charters.

Carleen Lee coordinated the program schedule and Elva Mae "Ebb" Spiceland served as master of ceremonies. Annual Catholic appeal explained by bishop

In a recent visit to Granite City, Bishop Daniel Ryan of the Springfield diocese explained to priests and parish leaders the importance and the mechanics of the Annual Catholic Services Appeal.

Ryan announced the 1990 goal of $2.06 million to fund the myriad of services provided by the diocese. The money will fund many services to Madison County parishes and the 27 other counties in the diocese. This goal will be reached either by parishioner donations or assessment of parish revenue.

The annual appeal was initiated in 1989 to replace the Diocesan Development Fund Collection. The new program was developed to ease the burden of donation by Catholic families. There is a pledge period extending over a six-month period. The billing process is handled directly by the diocese or a one time donation can be made. The theme of this year's appeal is "Sharing God's Gifts." Families are being asked to return pledges of 1 percent of annual income.

In 1989, 29 parishes exceeded their assessed goal of 1 percent of parish annual revenue. They received rebates from the Springfield office. The Bishop is hoping for even greater success this year.

The Springfield Diocese office will be offering additional information about the services provided by funding from the appeal.

Catholic families should be receiving pledge cards the week of Oct. 8.

Members of the Aldridge family held their 16th annual Aldridge family reunion on Sept. 16 at Wilson Park in Granite City. There were 11 families and three generations present. Ages ranged from 10 to 82.

Among those attending were: Carl and Virginia Aldridge and their son, Thomas, and grandchildren, James Thomas and Melissa Jane. Fred and Mary Aldridge and Frances Aldridge, all of Granite City.

Also, Catherine Aldridge, Rex and Loretta Aldridge and their daughter and son-in-law, and David and Wanda Aldridge, all of St. Peters, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Wilson of Millstadt and their guests from Granite City.

The 1991 reunion will be held at Wilson Park on the third Sunday in September.

The Chouteau Township Senior Citizens will sponsor a "line dancing" class at the Chouteau Township Social Center, 906 N. Thorngate Drive. Classes will start at 7 p.m. on alternate Thursdays, beginning on Oct. 4.

Cissie Pingel and Ben Stentz are the dance instructors. Enrollment is still open and a donation can be expected.

James and Delta Saddler of Somerset, Ky., and their daughter and son-in-law, Sue and Gerald Smith of Palm Beach, Fla., were weekend guests in the home of Delta's sister, Pearl Turner on Patricia Drive.

On Saturday morning, Pearl's son and daughter-in-law, Paul and Paula Turner, joined the relatives for breakfast. Later in the day, Pearl and her guests traveled to Cottage Hills to visit another sister, Evelyn Davis.

Bill and Opal Davis of Mueller Avenue were weekend guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Joe and Alma Dutchik, at their weekend retreat near Batchtown.

On Sunday afternoon, the Dutchiks hosted a backyard barbecue for about 35 guests.

Included were his parents, Jim and Jane Dutchik of Branson, Mo., several of their Batchtown neighbors and several Granite Cityans.

Mary Lou Maue has returned from a three-week vacation in Oregon, where she visited her father, Leclaire Pooler, her son and daughter-in-law, Jim and Susan Maue, and their sons, Joseph, Benjamin, and her daughter, Carolyn Maue, and sons, Levi and Rusty. She also saw relatives in Grants Pass.

During the holiday, Mary Lou Maue and her relatives were joined by Maue's son-in-law and daughter, Jerry and Diane Eagan, and their sons, Zachary and Jeremy, of Pontoon Beach. One of the activities for the family was gathering wild elderberries on Pine Mountain and making elderberry jelly.

Jim Maue and Jerry Egan also went elk hunting in the mountains. The visitors and their hosts also spent a week at the beach at Florence, Ore., and visited Crater Lake and other points of interest.

Mary Tolka of Moreland Drive and her sister-in-law, Mary Tessari of Granite City, have returned from a four-week European tour that included visits to Austria, Yugoslavia, Holland, Italy and Germany.

The plane carrying the two local women landed in Frankfurt, Germany, about the same time as a plane from Philadelphia on which Tolka's daughter, Maryanne Lowe, was traveling.

The trio joined forces for a trip to Udene, Italy, the homeland of Tolka's parents, and the trip across Europe.

Jim and Jeri Schieb of Mueller Avenue left here on Sept. 7 for a nine-day vacation across Tennessee and North Carolina. The local couple met friends, Karl and Barbara Fulmer and son, Robert, and Dorsey and Mary McKinnon, their daughter, Peggy, and a friend, Jeff Harrington, in Gatlinburg, Tenn.

The Schiebs also visited long-time friends, Elizabeth Lawson and Jane Huff, in Gatlinburg.

In Pigeon Forge, the group attended "Shades of the Past," an antique car show, and the "Street Rodders" performance, including demonstrations with antique cars.

The next time you're tempted to travel to the city or out-of-town shopping mall, stop and think of the real cost. Be sure to add mileage, cost of meals, babysitter expense, time and other incidentals.

Money experts say that each dollar will turn over as many as four of five times in a community like ours, which means that a dollar spent somewhere else will take away $4 or $5 in trade, wages, local taxes, etc.

Your friendly merchants at home probably have just what you want anyway... and often cheaper than stores in the city. Shopping at home is easier and quicker, and you won't have to spend $78 for a shirt.

Woman's body found, identity being sought

MADISON — Police are investigating the death of a woman whose body was found at 7:40 a.m. Friday in a field adjacent to Fox Brothers Road in Madison.

Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke said the woman was run over by a vehicle. "She had massive trauma and was definitely hit by a vehicle," Burke said.

The victim had not been identified on Saturday morning. Police officers had shown photographs of the woman at various public places on Friday night, but no one could identify her, Burke said.

Madison police are seeking help in identifying the woman.

who is described as white, between 25 and 35 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighing about 125 pounds, with brown hair and gray or hazel eyes.

The woman was wearing a yellow T-shirt with "Cunard Countess Cruising Club" printed on it in blue letters with a nautical-type rope design. The woman had on white jeans and white tennis shoes with Velcro straps.

Fox Brothers Road runs parallel to and just west of the railroad tracks north from Market Street.

Anyone with information concerning the woman's identity or the case should contact the Madison Police Department at 876-4300.

The public meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. at the Elks Lodge, 1481 S. Illinois St., Belleville.

For more information, please call: Doris Alberts at 233-6121 or Diane Walsh at 277-0483.

Landfill

encountered no deeper than 16 feet. "These sands were wet and are capable of transmitting fluid at a relatively rapid rate. Hence, the regional picture of relatively low natural protection to ground water resources appears to be borne out," the report states.

On examination by Brian Konzen, an attorney for Laidlaw Waste Systems Inc., Andrews also acknowledged that the proposed site would continue to produce leachate "for several decades beyond the 20-year life expectancy" of the landfill.

And while Andrews said he had no specific knowledge of private wells within a one-mile radius of the site, aside from one, he acknowledged that, with sustained growth of the Collinsville and Troy communities — which would cause increased pressure on underground water sources — there is the possibility of water for those communities being drawn from under the landfill.

In close questioning regarding where soil borings were taken,

Andrews said only one of four borings was from directly below the barge site and the geological survey "may have interpreted" the areas where the borings were taken.

Bob Stille, D-Edwardsville, a member of the county's Regional Pollution Control Board, responsible for hearing the site application, said, "It seems like there's been a lot of misrepresentation" associated with the site proposal.

After the hearing, Stille said, "It seems that a lot of information that was supposed to be in the application has been left out."

Virgil Zoelzer, a real estate appraiser hired by ECS, testified that the landfill would not harm real estate values around the landfill.

He said he had visited Crestwood, Ill., a Chicago suburb where a similar landfill/recycling operation is located, and had found no negative effect on property values there.

Under questioning by attorney Lewis Mallott, representing the County Board, Zoelzer conceded that property values in the area of the proposed landfill could have already been negatively affected by the presence of the Milan Landfill, farther south on Illinois 203.

David Branninger, a civil engineer hired by ECS, testified that the landfill would have no negative effect on traffic flow on Illinois 203 at Big Bend Road and on Illinois 111, which would be the points of entry to the landfill.

William Dorris, a farmer who owns land off of Big Bend Road and farms land next to the proposed landfill for his father-in-law, testified that in his experience the soil at the proposed site was too porous to prevent leached materials from getting into the groundwater.

Retired farmer Harry Parker also testified that the soil was too porous, saying he had seen wells dug that hit water six feet down.

Parker said farmers near Horseshoe Bend could plow in the rain because the water drains through the soil before the surface can turn to mud.

George Arnold, a retired professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville who is active in a number of environmental organizations, said that in his opinion the proposed landfill would be bad for the county because the mixed-waste recycling operation would encourage people not to separate recyclables at home.

"It tends to encourage the throw-away mentality that too many of us have today," Arnold said.

Mike Coulson was the project manager for a $550,000 study on waste management in the bi-state region completed this year for the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council. He testified that the study concluded that no new landfills should be built in southwestern Illinois until 1995.

But Coulson said the ECS plan comports with the East-West study's recommendations in every other way.

Transit

A new route will link downtown Granite City with Northgate Industrial Park on Illinois 3 and Sanford-Brown Business College on West Chain of Rocks Road.

All four routes will begin in December.

Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse called the new routes "really exciting" and called the 25-cent fare "the best deal in town."

Robert Hapka-Tracy, a member of Paragard, praised the expansion for providing more service to people with physical disabilities.

Joe Roberts, executive director of the Joe W. Roberts Youth Athletic Club in Eagle Park, said, "This is going to mean so much to so many people."

Jerry Kane, managing director of Madison County Transit, said the expanded service is possible because the district saved $300,000 a year by switching operation of a couple of routes from Bi-State to the Agency for Community Transit (ACT).

Service will be expanded also in the northern and eastern communities of the county over the next several years.

For specific route information, call 1-800-VIP-RIDE.

Steel

ASF President Norman A. Berg said the decision to bring additional manufacturing capacity on line is the result of continued improvement in the railroad products business.

"Orders for the construction of new freight cars have increased by almost 9 percent this year," Berg said.

"Also, a more heavily utilized freight car fleet and the need to keep it operating at optimum conditions, has resulted in increased demand for freight car parts."

ASF also has plants in Alliance, Ohio, and East Chicago and Hammond, Ind.

American Steel Foundries, a division of AMSTED Industries, is a leading manufacturer of side frames and bolsters making up the undercarriages of railroad freight cars, as well as producing couplers and other railroad freight car components. It also makes steel springs for construction and earthmoving equipment, and fifth wheels and accessories for heavy-duty highway trucks.

AMSTED Industries Inc. is a privately-held, diversified manufacturer of products for the construction and building markets, general industry and railroads. AMSTED reported 1989 sales of $899 million, and is a Fortune 500 company.

Costells asks for earthquake plan

WASHINGTON — U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville, has asked the Federal Emergency Management Agency what plans it has to assist localities in southwestern Illinois in the event of a major earthquake occurring along the New Madrid fault.

Recent publicity in the region has heightened concern that conditions may be increasing for an earthquake to occur in the near future along the fault.

"Although these predictions have been refuted by many respected seismologists, there is real concern on the part of many southern Illinois residents," Costello said.

"It's extremely difficult to tell when or if an earthquake will occur along the New Madrid fault," Costello added. "However, as we've seen with other natural disasters, it is essential that the federal government and local agencies be prepared for any occurrence."

In his letter to FEMA Director Wallace Stickney, Costello asked what preparations were being made by the federal government for an earthquake, and how FEMA is helping local governments to prepare for the possibility of earthquake-related damage.

"In order to ease the anxiety of the citizens and to give them the maximum time and informa-

Academy in January.

Commissioner Dewey Melton, of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, said Roderick competed for the job on equal terms with everyone else and "certainly deserves her chance."

Women have been able to apply to be police officers for a long time, he said, but all previous women applicants had been eliminated by one facet or another of the screening and testing process.

No one part of the process proved to be the stumbling block, he said, "but we lose half of all applicants at the written examination."

The written examination is administered by BAC and Melton said the commissioners are not told the applicants' scores until after the oral interviews have been completed. Other requirements include a test of physical strength and a psychological screening.

Roderick said she "didn't find the tests that bad, but I had to work for it."

Now, Melton said, "as a probationary patrolman she's got to do her thing. She's got to go to the street and prove she can do the job on the street, just like any other probationary patrolman."

Roderick is single. She is the daughter of Jerry and Coleen Roderick of Granite City.

way Packaging and PVO Foods building new plants."

As little as four years ago, Ortals said, new jobs appeared to be limited to the fast-food area and the city was in a position where "a prison or horse-meat processing plant would have looked real good."

In fact, Ortals said, Mayor Von Dee Cruse sent him to a meeting in East St. Louis to see about getting a state prison.

Now, he said, it doesn't look like Granite City will all end up selling hamburgers to each other.

"I think St. Louis has really helped us," Ortals said. "They've been concentrating on sports stadiums and things like that and have been paying very little attention to smaller firms."

"A lot of our success has to do with attitude ... it's one of those intangibles but developers, engineers and firms have all complained to me about the way they've been treated across the river."

William Donovan, manager of American Steel Foundries' Granite City Works, said the attitude is intangible, but it is important.

Donovan said local governmental agencies, businesses and unions have all been very cooperative with his company.

"It's been a good relationship, one we hope continues," Donovan said.

Turnips and rutabagas make fine eating on cool fall days

When fall puts a chill in the air, it is time to think of hearty recipes for the harvest of root vegetables. Turnips and rutabagas are just coming into season, providing nutritious, economical and tasty eating.

Turnips are a fair source of vitamin C, and rutabagas are an even better one. Both retain vitamin C well when cooked. White turnips' yellow cousin, rutabaga, is king now. When eating rutabagas, select those that are heavy in relation to size, and roundish rather than pointed. They should be quite hard. Avoid those that are all soft or light in weight, and avoid those that are wrinkled or blemished.

Store rutabagas and turnips in a cool, humid place. Just before cooking, wash to remove the thin layer of wax coating that must be removed to prevent loss of moisture and shriveling.

Rutabagas and turnips can be used interchangeably in most recipes, although rutabagas have a denser texture and require a little longer to cook. Fall's rutabagas also have a slightly sweeter and more assertive flavor than a turnip.

Mashed rutabagas are delicious as a side dish with turkey. Grated raw rutabaga can be

'Luck of the Irish' smiled when green spinach was born

Fresh spinach, often tossed into salads, makes sensational side dishes as well. Its dark green color is an attractive accent and it offers rich nutritional benefits. Spinach is an excellent source of vitamin A and C, and provides iron, fiber and other nutrients. It is free of fat, cholesterol and sodium and is very low in calories.

Spinach should be cleaned thoroughly just before being used. Place spinach in a sink filled with lukewarm water. Wipe water helps to get the plentiful grit from the leaves. Drain and repeat washing until dirt is removed. Coarse spinach stems should be discarded. Young, tender spinach stems can be left in.

Cook spinach using just the water which clings to it leaves after rinsing. Keep the cooking time brief, just a few minutes at most, because overcooking ruins the taste. Do not cook spinach in aluminum cookware. Aluminum harms both the color and flavor of the vegetable.

served with a vinaigrette dressing, or cooked in a stir-fry dish. Serve them roasted, dice them in stews or combine mashed rutabagas with tart cooked apples and a little sugar for a sweeter side dish.

Either rutabagas or white turnips can be used in the following French Cream of Turnip Soup. The sweet soup is traditionally high in fat, but this recipe produces the same mellows, sweet flavor without the fat because the vegetables are boiled rather than sautéed and evaporated milk is substituted for cream.

For other delicious and nutritious fall recipes, the fall volume of the AICR "An Ounce of Prevention" cookbook series is now available. To order a copy, send a check for $6 (payable to "AICR") to American Institute for Cancer Research, Department CB4, Washington, D.C. 20039.

Cream of turnip soup

- 1½ lb. turnips, peeled, cut in 1 inch cubes (about 4 cups)
- 1 medium potato (about ½ lb.), peeled, cut in 1 inch cubes
- 1 cup coarsely chopped onion
- 2 cups water
- 2 cups chicken broth or

- low-sodium bouillon
- Freshly ground pepper to taste
- ½ cup evaporated skim milk
- tsp. pepper sauce or to taste

Place turnips and potatoes in large pot with onion, water, broth and pepper. Bring to boil. Cover. Reduce heat. Simmer 30 minutes.

Drain the turnip-potato mixture, saving the cooking liquid. Place vegetables in food processor or blender. Begin blending, adding enough cooking liquid to make smooth puree.

Add puree and remaining cooking liquid back into original pan. Reheat, stirring in evaporated milk and pepper sauce.

Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Moore-Bush combo blitzes Warriors

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Bob Shannon said he was a little leery returning to the scene of the crime. His uneasiness didn't last long.

The East St. Louis Flyers scored 28 points in the first quarter on the way to a convincing 48-0 win over the Warriors before an estimated crowd of 4,000 at Memorial Stadium on Friday. Junior running back Chris Moore had 163 yards on only six carries and scored three touchdowns, while senior split end Homer Bush also scored three times — once on a 73-yard punt return.

East Side improved to 5-0 overall and 2-0 in Southwestern Conference play while the upset-minded but outmanned Warriors fell to 4-1 overall and 2-1 in league play.

"They're as good as they want to be," Warrior coach Tom Wyrostek said of the Flyers, who have won 19 straight games. "They have some great individuals, but all their players are great."

Moore went 72 yards on the game's second play and it was 7-0 after only 1:06. The Warriors turned the ball over seven times (four fumbles, three interceptions) and the Flyers took full advantage.

Moore scored again three minutes later after quarterback Bob Thomas' fumble and Bush took Mike Nordstrom's punt after the next series all the way. After an exchange of fumbles, junior quarterback DeAndre Singleton (6 for 11, 147 yards, two touchdowns) hit Bush for a 25-yard score to make it 28-0 with 1:09 left in the first quarter.

Moore scored on a beautiful weaving 23-yard run the next time the Flyers had the ball and Bush caught a six-yard scoring toss from Singleton after Moore's interception and a 62-yard Singleton-to-Bush hookup set things up.

The Flyers sat down their first string the entire second half and scored only on a 32-yard pass from Darren Eubanks to Rolando Cameron with 1:45 left in the game.

"I had a bit of an uneasy feeling coming in here," said Shannon, the Flyer coach. "I saw all the fans and I remembered what happened here four years ago (Granite City's 17-14 win). But this was the best we have played all year. It's the first time we've played with any emotion. You always want to go for the jugular when you get the chance and our first-stringers were excellent."

"But Granite City can bounce back. It will be tough, but they still have a chance to make the playoffs."

Wyrostek knows the toughest part of the schedule is coming up, including Friday's home game with Edwardsville.

"The good thing is you get to play another day," he said. "They beat us in every aspect, but most of our kids played their hearts out, hope the players appreciate me as much as I appreciate them. We'll keep working hard."

The Flyers had 294 yards of total offense in the first half and scored six of the eight times they had the ball.

Tigers blank Trojans, 35-0

By Mike Blackshere
Correspondent

MADISON — The Dupo Tigers came to Madison as the No. 2 Class 2A team in the state while the Trojans had yet to win a game. It appeared to be a mismatch and was — but only in the second half.

Sandwiched between games against Carlyle and Freeburg, it is only natural that Dupo might take Madison a little lightly. The Trojans (0-4) lost the war 35-0 but they battled valiantly and certainly got the attention of the Tigers (5-0), who went to the locker room at halftime with a slim 7-0 lead.

"They (Madison) got some first downs and used the clock well in the first half," Tiger coach Gary Mauser said.

The Trojans opened the game with an eight-minute drive that covered 45 yards before Cole Proffer's interception at the goal line. The Tigers were forced to punt on their first possession and fumbled the ball away at the Madison 5 on their second possession. They did a good job of pinning the Trojans deep in their own end, however. After a short punt and a good runback the Tigers found themselves at the Madison 25 with 2:55 left in the half.

Tiger quarterback Josh Markert scrambled 22 yards on the second play of the drive for the touchdown.

The Tigers quickly took control of the second half as they marched 55 yards in 2:40 for a score. Markert scored his second touchdown run of the night. Markert ran for another score and threw one to Jack Chandler.

"We played a heck of a first half against a top-ranked, and undefeated team," said Trojan coach Don Smith. "We showed a lot of promise with a lot of young kids on the field. (Freshman) James Gilmore and (sophomore) Derek Hall both went both ways on the line."

Tourney field could be most balanced yet

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — This year's Tournament of Champions could be among the most balanced ever.

The ninth annual Pepsi-Cola Granite City High School/Patrick Tournament of Champions begins Monday, and for the first time ever four defending state champions will be participating.

The 9-2 Warriors, of course, won the Illinois state title last fall. Hazelwood Central, which will be in Group C with Granite City, won the Missouri state title last year, while Aquinas-Mercy won the Missouri small school title, Louisville Ballard won the 1989 Kentucky state title while coached by ex-Warrior great Dave Fernandez.

Fernandez no longer coaches Ballard, but Warrior coach Gene Baker is still excited by the prospects of another exciting week at the Granite City featuring 28 games in six days leading up to the championship game at 7 p.m. Oct. 6. The top eight teams in this week's Journal coaches

Warriors blank Belleville East

The Warriors improved to 5-0 in Southwestern Conference play and 9-2 overall with a 3-0 win over Belleville East on Thursday at The Gauntlet.

Ryan Reeves (second goal), Skip Birdsong (sixth) and Eric Davis (second) scored unassisted goals as Granite City won its fifth straight game and moved closer to clinching another Southwestern Conference title. Brad O'Neill got the shutout in goal, making only one save. Reeves opened the scoring six minutes into the second quarter and Birdsong scored with only seven seconds left in the third quarter.

poll will be in the tournament. "The feeling of some people is that the talent in the St. Louis area is down," said Baker. "But we've had some players in this tournament in recent years who have gone on to major colleges, like John (Van Buskirk), (Hazelwood Central's) Shane Battelle (SMU) and (CBC's) Pat Mann (Florida Central).

"Then you have players this year like (SLUH's) Jeff Bannister (last year's Tournament of Champions MVP), and our own Pat Rich and Jay Robertson. (No. 1) Vianno has a couple of great players (Darren McDonough and Josh Klimek) and (No. 2) Oakville is right there with them."

No. 3 CBC and No. 6 SLUH have met in the title game the last two years, with the Cadets winning in 1988 and the Junior Bills prevailing last year. But that won't happen in 1990. Those two teams will be together in Group B and will face each other in the final game of group play at 8:30 p.m. Friday. Group D will feature heavyweights DeMet (fourth), Vianney and Aquinas-Mercy (seventh).

"There has been some backlash about some of the bracketing, but we're not going to have it easy, either," Baker said. Indeed, after opening with Chaminate at 6:45 p.m. Monday, the fifth-rated Warriors face No. 8 Hazelwood Central at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, then finish group play against Oakville at 6:45 p.m. Friday.

"I think just about anybody could win our group," said Baker. "You would have to lean towards CBC or SLUH in their group. (In Group A), you can never count on McCluer North. But Tony Schinto (New Trier coach) feels he can come down

Spikers give Lancers all they can handle

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

BELLEVILLE—That the Warrior volleyball team lost to Belleville-East on Thursday is not a major surprise. But Granite City gave the powerful Lancers—all they could handle in a 15-17, 9-15 match.

It goes down as a loss, but served as a morale-booster for the 18 Warriors.

"We should have won," said coach Natalie Buxter. "As far as I'm concerned we did win."

After scoring only 10 points in two games against East on Sept. 11, Granite City far surpassed that in a wild first game Thursday. The Lancers (9-6) opened with 8-1 and 11-4 leads. But the Warriors trimmed the margin to 14-11, then scored four in a row to take a 15-14 lead. But Molly Brauer quieted the uprising with three straight Lancer points to finish the game.

"I think Granite City played exceptionally well," said East coach Gayle Kitzling. "They showed that they are able to play. We have to tip our hats to them."

The Warriors were able to handle East at the net in the first game, something that has cost them at times this season.

"Our blocking tonight was awesome," said Buxter. "It was the best it has ever been."

Amy Hearn (15 points) started the second game with a nine-point string which looked insurmountable. But again the Warriors fought back, getting as close as 12-9 as Amy Bohnenstiel racked up five of her team-high 10 points. But Becky Opl served out for the Lancers.

"I think we had a bit of a let-down after playing Belleville West (No. 1 in the state) on Tuesday," said Kitzling of her team's 15-1 loss to the Maroons. "We have to get back together mentally."

The self-respect and confidence gained by the Warriors might mean more than any statistics.

"We were able to stay with East at their best," said Buxter. "They all played great tonight, but the best thing is that they can play even better."

"The one thing I would like to see, and the players would like to see, is for our band to come out for the games. The Collinsville band was at the game the other night and it really helped get the fans into it."

The Warriors were able to handle East at the net in the first game, something that has cost them at times this season.

"Our blocking tonight was awesome," said Buxter. "It was the best it has ever been."

Amy Hearn (15 points) started the second game with a nine-point string which looked insurmountable. But again the Warriors fought back, getting as close as 12-9 as Amy Bohnenstiel racked up five of her team-high 10 points. But Becky Opl served out for the Lancers.

"I think we had a bit of a let-down after playing Belleville West (No. 1 in the state) on Tuesday," said Kitzling of her team's 15-1 loss to the Maroons. "We have to get back together mentally."

The self-respect and confidence gained by the Warriors might mean more than any statistics.

"We were able to stay with East at their best," said Buxter. "They all played great tonight, but the best thing is that they can play even better."

Golfers fourth at conference meet; netters win

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

BELLEVILLE—The Warrior golf team took fourth place in the Southwestern Conference tournament Thursday at Clinton Hills.

Belleville East won the meet on a tiebreaker as the Lancers finished 18 holes tied with Belleville West and Collinsville at 319. The Lancers' fifth golfer, Jeff Bragg, was the difference as his 87 bested West's Robbie Benton (90). Mike Chaney of Collinsville had the best individual score with a 72.

The Warriors were the only team to have all eight golfers shoot below 90. Joe Brewer led the way with an 80. Chris Sturdivant and Allen Ledbetter both had 84s and Gabe Mitchell had an 85 to give Granite City a 333 total.

"Our kids played the course about as well as expected," said Warrior coach Russ Chappell. "This was the toughest course they'll play on all season. The placements of the pins were absolutely ridiculous. The course was as hard as I've ever seen it."

Granite City was in the Mascoutah Regional on Saturday, then will be in the Wood River Regional on Tuesday at Belk Park. They will be grouped with such stalwarts as Edwardsville, East, West, Collinsville and O'Fallon.

"Only four (teams) go to sectionals (cash rebates to 15 individuals) and that means we have to beat O'Fallon or Edwardsville to advance," said Chappell. The course at Belk Park will be a definite advantage."

Granite City improved to 6-5 with a 5-2 win over Alton on Thursday in a home meet.

The Warriors swept the singles, while Addie Lenzi and Holie Taylor got a 6-0, 6-3 doubles win.

Kristi Holsinger (6-1, 6-1), Nikki Pettillo (6-4, 7-6), Amy Lenburg (6-4, 6-0) and Jennifer Hitt (6-3, 6-1) were singles winners.

"Nikki has been a steady player since she was a freshman," said Lobdell. "She has done all I've expected of her."

Open house at SIUE scheduled Oct. 13

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will hold its annual "Preview SIUE," a university-wide open house for high school students and their parents on Saturday, Oct. 13, beginning at 9 a.m.

"Preview SIUE" gives area high school juniors and seniors, as well as their parents, an opportunity to learn more about the university, its academic programs and departments, services and activities, plus on-campus housing at Tower Lake. Faculty, staff and students will be on hand to welcome visitors in the University Center's Goshen Lounge.

University officials said the day's activities will be flexible so that guests may arrange their own schedules, visiting departmental presentations, talking with faculty and alumni and touring instructional and recreational facilities.

Students and their families will also be able to obtain financial aid and admissions counseling. Information about academic programs and student services will be available at exhibits in the University Center's Meridian Ballroom.

Tours of the campus core and university housing facilities will be offered throughout the day, with the last tour departing at 2 p.m.

SIUE students active in student government, intercollegiate and intramural athletics and student organizations also will be on hand to talk with guests. Special sessions relating to career choices, pre-professional programs and parents' concerns will be offered during the day as well.

A complimentary lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the University Center cafeteria. The School of Fine Arts and Communications will provide entertainment in the Goshen Lounge during the lunch hour.

For additional information, interested persons may contact Pam Voss at 692-2626; toll-free from Illinois, 1-800-447-SIUE; or toll-free from Missouri, 1-800-533-SIUE.

Holy Family PSA holds first meeting of year

Holy Family Parish/School Association (PSA) held its first meeting of the 1990-91 school year on Sept. 17 in the school's cafeteria. Many parents attended and also visited the individual classrooms.

Chairman Nancy Kelaian presided and introduced this year's officers, including: chairman-elect, Rosa Santini; recording secretary, Diane and Roger McFain; treasurer, Judine Lux; and corresponding secretary, Julie Gulash.

Sister M. Angeline, principal, gave her report and introduced this year's teaching staff, of 15 teachers. The principal discussed the school curriculum and the possibility of adding shorts to the current student uniform. She also reviewed the SRA testing program and upcoming activities.

The Rev. Bill Fisherkeller, pastor, spoke about the need for parents to volunteer their time to help defray costs at the school and keep expenses down.

Other reports focused on PSA membership, which has a goal of 100 percent; collection of Campbell Soup labels; entertainment at the children's Christmas party; and the successful Apples for Students drive.

Woody Halbrook, athletic chairman, discussed the status of athletics for students in the 1990-91 school year. He also introduced coaches for the basketball and volleyball teams and sponsors for the cheerleader squads.

A room mothers report was given by Cindy Meredith and a fish-fry update was given by Brenda Roosevelt.

Financial reports and minutes from the May meeting were approved.

Parents were invited to visit their children's classrooms to meet the individual teachers and hear what their child will be doing this year.

Georganna Weinhoff won the 50/50 drawing and an attendance prize was received by Steve Foster.

Refreshments were provided and served by the parents of third grade pupils.

The PSA group will next meet on Monday, Oct. 22.

Thousands to reenact Civil War battle

BELMONT, MO. — One of the largest Civil War reenactments in the Midwest is scheduled for Oct. 6 and 7. Thousands of men, women and children will reenact the Battle of Belmont, originally fought near the small southwestern Missouri town Nov. 7, 1861.

The reenactment will take place at the American Legion Freedom Farm near Freeburg, that can be reached by going one mile east of Eckert's Market on Illinois 15, then four miles east on Jefferson Road.

Battles will begin at 3 p.m. Oct. 6 (Saturday) and 2 p.m. Oct. 7 (Sunday). Information is available by calling 1-800-782-9587. Lawn chairs are recommended.

"Reenactors" dressed in authentic Union and Confederate uniforms will camp and drill in an authentic encampment the entire weekend. The campsites are designed to look as they did in the Civil War. Each "reenactor" will wear only materials available and used during the Civil War.

According to Mark Westhoff, vice chairman of the St. Clair County Bicentennial Commission, one of the event sponsors, "reenactors" from 20 states are planning to participate.

"Reenactors" are calling from all over the country," Westhoff said. "We have three units from Indiana who receive all of their commands in German," he added.

More than 1,000 pounds of gunpowder will be used to fire Springfield muskets and Enfield muskets and cannons during the two days of battle reenactment.

To assure complete safety, officers of the opposing armies will conduct a formal military inspection of all weapons each morning.

The campsites will be open the entire weekend. As in the Civil War, various military units will maintain separate camps, each with its own military formations and practices.

The "reenactors" will relay and relate stories of life during the Civil War, an educational experience for everyone, according to Westhoff. A medical unit, for example, will provide its impression of a Civil War field operating theater.

"Sutlers," those portraying traveling peddlers, will have a separate encampment where they will offer Civil War-era goods and memorabilia for sale and trade.

Westhoff said that the Battle of Belmont was selected because the brigades involved in the battle were from the St. Clair County area.

A formal military ball is scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday, to be preceded by night-firing of aerial bombs and a 21-cannon salute at 7:30 p.m. The ball features period music but period dress is not required. A Civil War-era Catholic Latin Mass and Protestant worship services are scheduled for Sunday morning, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The battle will be narrated by Corp. Bob Pecoraro of the group known as the 11th Mississippi Infantry, based in St. Louis. The narrations will begin about one hour before the actual battle reenactments, Pecoraro said.

Free parking and shuttle bus service will be provided by the St. Clair County Transit Authority from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. Buses will depart from the Belleville transit park and make boarding stops at Belleville East High School on West Boulevard, Belleville Area College on Green Mount Road and Eckert's Market at Green Mount Road and Illinois 15.

Tickets at $5 for each car are available at these Illinois locations: Bicentennial Gift Shop, 200 E. Main St., Belleville; Freedom Farm, Jefferson Road; the Outdoor Store, 2224 W. Main St., Belleville; and Southwestern Illinois Tourism Bureau, 907 Main St., Highland. Advance tickets allow entrance both days.

The reenactment is also sponsored by the Southwestern Illinois Tourism and Convention Bureau. The host unit is the 22nd Regiment Illinois Volunteer Infantry (Re-activated). Co-hosts include reenactment groups known as the 1st Illinois Light Artillery of Bartleson, Bowen's Brigade of St. Louis, the 11th Mississippi Infantry of St. Louis and Big River Volunteers of Bonne Terre, Mo.

Irish folk troupe to play Sheldon

Traditional Irish dancers, singers and musicians will be in concert at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 5, at the Sheldon, 3648 Washington Ave., St. Louis.

The 17 performers, ranging in age from 17 to 60, are folk artists who have won top honors in a national competition in Ireland. The troupe is on an 18-concert tour of the United States and Canada.

Tickets are $10 for adults; $5, children. Those who wish more information may call (314) 842-3740 or (314) 849-1682.
